

The Alabama Self-Insured Worker's Compensation Fund (ASIWCF) and Midwest Employers Casualty (MEC) have successfully partnered to provide excess workers' compensation coverage and services to the ASIWCF membership since 2003.

MEC is an A.M. Best A+ rated (Category XV - $2 billion or more), excess workers' compensation insurance carrier and a member company of the W. R. Berkley Corporation. ASIWCF is one of the largest workers' compensation providers in the state with insured payrolls in excess of $6 billion.

MEC's commitment to ASIWCF includes, but is not limited to:

1. Providing excess workers' compensation coverage that is backed by a financially strong and stable organization, which is necessary to meet the financial requirements and needs of the members.
2. Helping each member reduce their total cost of risk via educational tools and resources, so that they can effectively manage and reduce the cost of losses over the long-term.
3. Supporting ASIWCF's efforts to consistently obtain favorable operating results, so that each member benefits and is rewarded for their contribution to the fund's success.

Through the years, MEC and ASIWCF's partnership has evolved into one that is strong and sustainable, despite the challenges of the marketplace. Both parties understand the risks and trends of the long-tail nature of the excess workers' compensation line of business and the alignment of both parties is a contributing factor to the fund's success.

MEC is looking forward to a continued strong partnership for many years to come.
